Notes:

Spoke with the city of Bismarck water and sewer services administrator via phone at 13:53 to ascertain situation. The administrator communicated that the company had put down Floor Dry for containment on the surface, and very little of the release had entered the storm drain. City employees had put booms at the bottom of a manhole, and the impact was contained to that point. According to the administrator, no on-site followup by the NDDoH was needed.

Notes:

Received an email from the company contact that contained an incident response and cleanup report from an environmental consulting firm. A review of the report showed that a majority of the release had been contained and removed from the area. Communications with the City of Bismarck stormwater supervisor confirm the report indicating that no further followup is needed at this time. Email and cleanup report added to incident folder.
