A concrete pole was sheered off in the parking lot of Budget Burger. It was not readily seen due to it being next to a snow bank. Our tractor hit the pole with the fuel tank causing a dent and small hole in the tank.

None

Potential Environmental Impacts:

None. The very minimal amount that we missed due to ice would probably not go anywhere where it could contaminant either soil or water

The lot was paved where the spill occurred. We soaked up the spill with floor dry (we are a floor dry dealer). We picked up the floor dry and put it in the original bags and loaded the bags in our pickup and took them back to our Fargo location
