Other Information

- Always ask for government pricing.
- Fluoride varnish has an expiration date, only order what you know you can use in the time frame.
- Consider finger protection if you are not used to working in the mouth and especially if you are applying the varnish primarily to very young children.
- Compare prices among the varnishes – some of the white varnishes are three times the cost of the other varnishes. You can serve three times the number of children if you purchase the less expensive product.
